

You are also invited to join us for conversation after our regular evening meetings. We usually go to a pub and chat in German for an hour or so over a drink.

Bookclub

Interest has been expressed in holding a German bookclub once per term. If you are interested in joining the small band of German literature enthusiasts, please contact Philippa for more details.

Other events

There are other activities in Bath and district with a German flavour that you may be interested in attending. Please note that these are not organised by the Society. If you do wish to attend, please contact the respective organisers for more details.

- Simon Winder is a guest speaker at Toppings bookshop on Thursday 25 February. He will be talking about his book, GerMania, “a very personal guide to Germany, often eccentric, always entertaining.” Tickets are £5 available from the shop.
- The FCO has launched a competition dedicated to capturing personal stories from all corners of the globe about the modern UK. The idea is to make a film clip lasting 1-3 minutes on the theme of “Britain through my eyes”. Foreign nationals are particularly encouraged to enter. Visit: www.seebritainthroughmyeyes.org for more details.
- Bath Literature Festival is holding an event on Tuesday 2 March featuring Timothy Garton-Ash, journalist, speaking about the discovery of his Stasi file. A.N Wilson will be speaking on Winnie and the Wolf, the relationship between Winifred Wagner and Hitler on Wednesday 3 March. Tickets from Bath Festivals Office.
- Swiss composer and pianist Nik Bartsch and his funk quintet Ronin are playing in Bristol on 11 March. Details from: www.stgeorgesbristol.co.uk

And finally...

Please help us to advertise our events by printing off copies of our posters and putting them up (with permission!) in local libraries, shops, schools, public notice boards etc.

We look forward to seeing you at our forthcoming events

Best wishes
